

Blindness, Backaches Hamper Turtle Tryouts

Whether the turtle entry from the Omaha University Press Club walks off with the top prize of the Delta Pi Kappa turtle trudge will not be determined until after the race in Detroit.

But one fact is well known about the two turtles which have been actively vying for the free trip to the trudge. Ill health has been hampering the turtles' workouts.

Doctors Examine

Qualified doctors Clifford Ellis and Bob McGranahan have carefully examined each of the turtles and have reached some definite conclusions.

The general conclusion is that both of the turtles have probably seen better days. Although no definite age can be determined, it is estimated by the rings around the turtles' eyes, that they are nearing 40. The turtles, Shrdlu and Slugline, have many visible battle scars to account for many tough races in championship tournaments.

Two Cataracts

Nevertheless, Shrdlu is the more pathetic of the two. "Doc" Ellis reports that the turtle has developed blindness from a cataract in the left eye. Ellis also reports that the turtle may be developing another in the right eye. Ellis has not yet decided whether it would be wise to operate and remove the cataract. The news was delivered to Press Club members by Ellis in a brief medical report yesterday.

Shrdlu's blindness probably accounts for the fact that the turtle has not moved more than six inches in the past six days.

Heavy Betting

Betting has been heavy the past few days. The odds on the OU entry have dropped to 44 to 1. Late rush to the campus bookies will probably drop the odds to 43 to 1 at trudge time.

The food problem of the turtles has brought many headaches. The turtles, natives of the Platte River area, prefer meat dishes. Prominent nose, throat and stomach authorities suggest hamburgers. As a result, the turtles can be seen dining at Harkert's most any afternoon.

Progress Incites Riot

"Get off our backs" cried members of the Library and Student Union committees. The faculty representatives have withdrawn into their shells to take cover from the student poundings.

Two chairmen of committees for the proposed Student Union and Library buildings quelled a student-riot this week. The chairmen, pictured at left, reassured belligerent students that "we are progressing as fast as our capabilities will permit."

Omaha University students Burt McMillan, Ray Hampton and Howard Olson cornered their fellow member Jack Adwers and demanded swift action from the committee. However, this heroic action bounced from the well-known hard shell of Adwers who snapped back, "Do you want dressing rooms or don't you want dressing rooms?"

This discussion has been tossed back and forth for two months. The three feminine members of the Student Union Committee, "Killer Kooker" Killian, "Spar-kin" Larkin and "Slats" Salladay, refuse to yield their feminine rights, and the group is deadlocked.

"Babyface" Harper who is running the Library job, had no comments. Rumor has it his experiences in the Chicago trip left him speechless. He roams the halls muttering "ah, uh . . . uh . . . uh." Said "Bam" McMillan, "If something isn't done soon, we'll have war . . . and it will be no mock-turtle war."

Air Force ROTC Organizes 'Front; Wing Contributes to Graft, Delinquency

The Air Force ROTC Wing at OU is nearing the end of its second year on campus. And the unit has left in its wake suspicious organizations. The Air Force psychologist majors, Whaley and Burnett, inaugurated an organization clearly seen by students as a cover-up club.

Sixty so-called campus "wheels" have been drawn into the "Angels' Flight," an obvious front for their rolling off-campus activities. The "Angels' Flight" works with the Arnold Air Society, an organization known to be under critical surveillance by the Dean of Students.

Furthermore, investigators have uncovered evidence which accuses the ROTC department of contributing to the delinquency of minors. Dean Mary Padou Young, evidently overcome by her forthright investigation, verified her suspicions that "it wasn't sody pop in that thar bottle, Phyllis Wilke used to christen that ship."

Bribes have been also revealed through the grape vine. Jack Katz, top brass, has been seen slipping votes to Angel members in charge of capes and hats. It seems Katz won't get his promotion until the hats and capes are delivered. The "Angels" involved are holding out for mink stoles and permanent halos.

Guess What Day This Is!

Charles Hoff, v-p for monkey business, announced new changes in the University system today.

An escalator will be installed from the lower parking lot to the South West entrance. When the escalator is in heavy demand, parking attendants in Air Force blue will be on duty to park your car for you.

Steam heat will be installed to prevent wet feet when walking in snowy weather.

Electrically-eyed doors will replace present manual doors, aiding book-lugging students.

Any other suggestions for improvement will be welcomed by Mr. Hoff.

Prof Slays Two, To Leave Country

A University of Omaha professor has been put on the list of the "Ten Most Wanted" by the FBI (feeble brains, incorporated.)

Curly-haired, smooth-talking Dr. Ralph Wardle is accused of administering a killing look to a student who whispered during a Humanities lecture. According to the report, Wardle is a two-time loser in this department.

On one occasion he delivered a withering lecture to a student caught reading a magazine in his English Literature class. The lecture was so successful the student disintegrated and was swept out by the janitors. There was no arrest since the corpus delicti couldn't be produced.

At last report the professor, author of a book that is reportedly pushing Mickey Spillane for best-seller, was making preparations for a trip. Lacking proper counsel he is under the impression that there is no extradition between England and the United States.

History Students Nab Prof's Maps

A catastrophic robbery took place on the second floor last week. Professor Sarah Tirrell reports that robbers broke into her history class and stole her history maps.

Miss Tirrell, in relating the story to Gateway reporters, told of her struggle with two assailants whom she described as dissatisfied history students.

As well as adding to class discussions, the maps had sentimental value, Miss Tirrell added. She reported that after referring to the maps in every class for as long as she has been teaching at OU (? number of years), she doesn't know whether she will be able to continue her classes.

No trace of the maps has been found, although several students reported seeing a large bonfire in the middle of Dodge Street about the time the robbery took place.

If anyone is able to identify the robbery, University officials would appreciate cooperation.

Poor Profs Perform

Lack of sufficient salaries and appreciation has forced several members of the University faculty into part time work. Four members of the faculty have been hired as entertainers to work at a West Dode "establishment." Known as the Omsoc Club, the small white building has played host to many well-known Middle Westerners in the last few months.

Gateway reporter I. Ambushed spent an evening visiting the "establishment" . . . equipped with his small wrist camera and portable typewriter.

Highlight of the evening appeared to be a can-can done by four male faculty members. Included were Robert "Pancho" McGranahan who is known for his iron-hand-in-velvet-glove teaching methods. Dean Jay B. "Cuddles" MacGregor lent his lithe ballet form to the quartet. MacGregor has not yet taken advantage of his singular position as Dean of Students in reprimanding delinquent students and staff members.

Don "Shorty" Pfisterer pulled up his socks and pulled down his stocking cap and entered into the spirit of the thing. He was clad in shocking pink pedal pushers topped with a flannel apple-green jacket.

Ernie "Curly" Gorr was outstanding in the quartet because of his many years of track training. Said Gorr, "Those high jumps and pas de deux were excellent preparation."

The Omsoc Club reportedly was opened by Associate Dean Mary Padou Young after a new policy in faculty dignity was announced at the recent Greek feed on campus.

Business manager for the new organization is Dean John W. "Loud Socks" Lucas of the College of Business Administration.

Dealer in the card room is Ben "Bad-boy" Koenig, whose experience in slipping used textbooks to veterans made him a natural for the new position.

Said Mrs. Young, "As we expand, we will need additional talent. Any professor in any college is welcome to audition in my office between 5 and 9 p. m."

LOST: One eyebrow near University auditorium. Belonged to dramatics professor who raised it too high.

LOST: Two turtles. Last seen being carried surreptitiously to the Shack by Manager Harlan Cain. Watch the soup next week.

WANTED: Jobs for three female editors planning to leave town over the weekend. Have own typewriters and willing to travel.

"Kicking up their heels" at low salaries and faculty restraining clauses are these four. Smiling approvingly from the frame on the wall is well-known Mrs. Young. The quartet has been playing to packed houses.

Frosh Reporters Raid Home, Find Staff Members

This was seen through a peephole by a jealous freshman reporter. The five, blacked out, did not wish to be identified as Gateway and Tomahawk staff members.

A recent raid on a well-known West Omaha residence resulted in the apprehension of two Gateway staff members.

The raid had been planned by disgruntled freshmen reporters for several months. Immediate cause of action was Gateway Editor Joanne Larkin's suspiciously lax attitude toward her editorial duties. Further suspicion was added when reporters told of seeing Miss Larkin slipping into the office of Thomas (TNT) Townsend, local alumni mogul.

Also picked up in the raid was the paper's sports editor and Press Club president, William G. Beindorff. Beindorff had figured prominently in the recent revival of pari-mutuel betting on turtle races on campus.

The above picture was taken through the peep hole of the residence. Miss Larkin can be seen behind Beindorff smiling expectantly and with obvious glee.

Other members in the picture were not identified and obviously were planted in the picture for atmosphere.

With the trial and sentence up to the local Student Council, rulings are not expected to be too harsh. The Council, which met just last month and will not meet again until September, is not expected to take drastic action. Past trials with the Council have met with little or no action.

Easter Convo Heralds Vacation

"Easter, 1953," will be the theme of today's annual Easter Convocation. The assembly will be in the auditorium at 9:30 a. m. Classes will follow the regular shortened period schedule.

The Madrigal Singers and a string quartet will be included on the program. The convocation will be opened after an organ prelude by Frederick Homan.

The program is divided into three sections, "Captata No. 4" by Johann Sebastian Bach, entitled "Christ Lay by Death Enshrouded," will be presented. The text is from a congregational hymn written by Martin Luther.

Excerpts from Handel's "The Messiah" will be sung. The entire University Choir will close the program with "The Hallelujah Chorus."

Soloists are soprano Millicent Wheeler, singing "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth." Tenor Ted Romberg and Alto Joanne Pierce will also be featured.

The program will be under the direction of Richard H. Brewer, vocal music instructor.

Classroom Enrolls Forty TV Pupils

Registration in the University of Omaha TV Classroom has leveled off at an average of approximately 40. However, television rating systems have determined that 12,000 persons witness the program.

Friday evening seminars have been established to furnish the Classroom student with a chance to ask questions concerning the lectures. The Friday meeting begins at 7 p. m. in Room 100.

William T. Utley, professor of History and Government, is in charge of the current TV series on "The Washington Scene."

Junior Jets Plan Track Meet, Tour

At the Junior Jets meeting last Saturday afternoon, Cadet Major John Haury, cadet commanding officer of the Jets, outlined plans for the proposed track meet and airport tour.

Tentative dates for the two events are April 11 for the cinder meet and May 2 for the airport trip.

Coach Ernie Gorr's track lettermen will assist in supervising the Jets' program.

Movies were also shown at the meeting together with several football shorts. The films were "Desert Victory" and "Defense Against Invasion."

Recent promotions list Jack L. Katz as lieutenant colonel and Paul E. Foster as major.

Seniors Receive Dance Invitations

The Auld Langsyne Dance will be Friday, Apr. 17. This date was announced officially by Tom Townsend, Alumni Executive Secretary, today. All graduating seniors will receive invitations to the dance, which welcomes them into the OU Alumni Association.

The invitations are being sent this week. Any senior who does not receive his ticket should come to the Alumni Office. The dance will be from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. at the Rome Hotel. Gary Penisten will play.

Brewer Schedules Five Concerts for Chorus

The month of April will find Professor Richard Brewer and his University of Omaha chorus making five Omaha appearances.

On April 12, Brewer's choir will perform at the Lutheran Church of Our Redeemer, and two days later on April 14, the forty Omaha University singers will give two convocations at Benson High school.

OU Groups Enter Nine Skills, Eleven Floats in Ma-ie Day Contest

Eleven campus organizations have entered the Ma-ie Day float contest, and nine have entered the skit contest. Float entries will include Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Sigma Kappa, Zeta Tau Alpha, Lambda Chi Alpha, Phi Epsilon, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Chi, Alpha Phi Omega and ISA.

The Student Council will build a float for the Ma-ie Day Princess and attendants.

All of these organizations except APO, ISA and Student Council will be in the skit contest.

Joan Willey, Student Council skit chairman, announced that all skit scripts must be turned in to the Dean of Students office by Apr. 10.

Businessmen Will Lecture In Special Senior Course

Approximately 20 Omaha business executives will return to Omaha U. classroom during 1953. They are appearing as guest lecturers in the "Business Policy and Administration" class at the University of Omaha.

Professor Paul Crossman, accounting expert in the College of Business Administration at the University, organized the class. Now there are 30 University seniors in the class, offered for the first time this semester.

Professor Crossman said, "Our guest speakers are selected from top executives so discussion can center around policy and planning, rather than specific procedures." The response of both businessmen and students has been excellent.

The president of the Omaha Steel Company, F. H. Bucholz, said, "It is a real privilege to come out and discuss business problems with students. We all enjoy it."

Professor Crossman pointed out that guest lecturers, representing

High School Linguists Enter Foreign Language Contest

Three spoken, language contests will be held for high school students at the University of Omaha next week. Sponsored by the department of Foreign languages and literatures, the contests will be held in French, Spanish, and German, and offer cash prizes to the leading two contestants in each language. Omaha and Council Bluffs high schools will enter two students in each language.

Kalamazoo Site Of Next Tourney

Four members of the University of Omaha debate team will journey to Kalamazoo, Michigan, for the national convention and tournament of Pi Kappa Delta, national debate fraternity.

Duane Post, Ted Romberg, Jean Bednar and Sharon Erdkamp were named by James D. Tyson, debate coach, to make the trip.

The OU debaters will compete against students from near 350 schools when the tourney opens at Western Michigan State College.

The group will leave by car Saturday in time to register at the convention on Easter Sunday. They will return home on April 10.

The Nebraska Theta chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, the largest debate fraternity in the nation, is located at Omaha U. Robert Dalhoff is president of the local chapter.

In 1948, two Omaha University students, Eileen Wolfe and Lois Brady, won top rating in the discussion division at the convention.

The contests will be held at 4 p. m. Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Each contestant will make a speech of 2 or 3 minutes in the foreign language selected for that particular contest, on any topic he chooses.

Chairman of Tuesday's French contest is Sharon Erdkamp, with Cliff Soubier heading the welcome committee. Questions in French will be made by Michel Bellis, instructor in French at Offutt Air Base.

Spanish is scheduled for Wednesday, with James T. Seybold, chairman, and the welcome by Diane Kantas. Dr. Christopher Espinosa, head of the University's department of foreign languages and literatures, will ask the questions.

Thursday's contest will be in German, with Jean Davis as chairman, and Guinter Kahn giving the welcome. Dr. George G. Schmalz, professor of foreign language, will put the questions.

Each contest will finish with slides of the countries featured.

OU Loses to ISTC, Sees Triangular Action

Indians Second With 50 Points

Omaha trackmen lost their only meet and finished the indoor season last Friday, losing to Iowa State Teachers. The Indians placed second in the triangular, ahead of South Dakota. The box score was Iowa State Teachers 61½, Omaha 50 and South Dakota 27 points.

The Teachers had the required depth in every event and, although they didn't come up to predictions in winning marks, they landed enough second and third place berths to compensate the loss of crossing the tape first.

Mile Run Highlight

Iowa had five firsts and eight seconds, while the Indians won seven firsts but only one second. This just about tells the story of the meet. South Dakota won the sprint relay to con their only victory. They also lacked depth even more than the Indians.

The highlight of the evening was the mile run. Bernie Lanson, never before running the mile for college competition, crossed the tape in 4:39.9 to break the meet record as well as the Fieldhouse mark. Bernie had a rather busy evening, running the mile, 880 and 440 yard dash in the mile relay.

Joe Nalty came up to expectations as he edged Frank Robinson of ISTC in the 60-yard dash with a winning time of :06.3. Freshman mainstay Bill Barnes raced through the 60-yard low hurdles in :07.2.

In the field marks Omaha made a sweep of first places with the exception of the pole vault. Larry Johnson won the shotput. Roger Dunbier was all by himself in the high jump at 6 feet ½ inch, while Jerry Tannahill set a new Fieldhouse mark in the broad jump at 21 feet 3½ inches.

Dave Tollefson of Iowa State Teachers cleared the bar at 11 feet 8½ inches to easily win the pole vault over Dale Plooster of South Dakota. Doug Alford of Omaha and Bob Kra'ky of ISTC.

Cardwell Calls Grid Practice; Begins Apr. 7

Coach Lloyd Cardwell announced today that spring football practice would begin Apr. 7 and continue until May 1.

On Apr. 7 Coach Cardwell plans to hold a meeting for all candidates in the PE locker room at 3 p. m. Plans for the daily workouts will be discussed and equipment will be checked out.

Cardie stated that the meeting is "primarily for the purpose of acquainting the new boys with our system." All interested should sign the roster in the hallway outside of Mr. Yelkin's office.

The football mentor also said, "Spring practice is definitely a help to Mr. Brock and myself because it gives us the chance to experiment with the players and find out their ability." He also added that "this coming season all the positions are wide open."

Coach Cardwell plans to have one or two games during spring practice pitting the new boys against last year's varsity.

The grid coach also plans to have three B team ball games during the fall season if there are enough boys to field two squads. Cardwell pointed out that in the

Sig Ep Leads Sweepstake Race

At the present time Sigma Phi Epsilon is leading the pack in the race for the sweepstakes trophy. Sig Ep won it last year, but Pi Kappa Alpha is making a big bid toward the present leaders.

But the race cannot be narrowed down to two organizations. There are still many intramural sports to be played, such as golf, track, tennis and softball.

Here are the point standings up to Feb. 19:

Sigma Phi Epsilon	865
Pi Kappa Alpha	757
ROTC	630
Theta Chi	585
P.E. Majors	320
Pawnees	260
ISA	260
Lambda Chi	195
Blackhawks	172
Otoes	60
Delta Sig	60
Sioux	30
Phi Epsilon Phi	6

Coaches Hold Intrasquad Games During Vacation

Coaches Virgil Yelkin and Bob Moscrey have been working the baseball squad on conditioning and hitting the past week in preparation for the intrasquad games that will be held during spring vacation. They are readying the players for the opening game next Tuesday at Simpson College of Indianola, Ia.

At least forty candidates are trying out for the team. The intrasquad games will determine which men will play for the varsity and those who will be dropped to the reserve team.

The break in the weather last week gave all members a chance to go outside for batting practice. Outfielders were snagging fly balls and the pitchers were throwing harder. Infield workouts still are being conducted in the Fieldhouse because the ground outside is too rough.

Coach Yelkin has been working with three infield combinations. The top group consists of Lee Nelson, first base; Bob Redden, second; Don Maseman, shortstop, and Aksel Schmidt, third. Freshman Fritz Buglewicz is giving Schmidt a stiff argument for third. John Wren and Larry Brehm are sharing catching chores.

Gorr Cancels Mural Wrestling This Year

Intramural wrestling for this year at the University has been canceled. Athletic Director Ernie Gorr stated that there were not enough boys in the different weight classes for the tournament.

All entries were supposed to be in by Mar. 16, but there was an unusual lack of interest in the mat sport this year.

All badminton and table tennis in intramurals must be completed before spring vacation.

Intramural softball will begin on Apr. 7.

OU Faces Dana, Midland Today

The OU track squad will face Dana College and Midland this afternoon at 3 in the first triangular outdoor meet of the 1953 season. The public is invited to attend and no admission will be charged.

The Indians are expected to place well in every event due to their depth and enrollment. They won over Midland earlier in the season, but have not met the Dana crew before.

One of the highlights of the afternoon should be the sprint relay team consisting of Joe Nalty, Jerry Tannahill, Bob Schropp and Bill Barnes. The quartette has had excellent timings in the three previous meets.
